

THE HISTORY OF HERITAGE LEARNING CENTER

Heritage Learning Center was established in 1987 by Phoebe Adams and Kim Adams in McKinney, Texas.

Prior to founding Heritage, Phoebe worked in child care facilities for almost 20 years and taught every age group from infants through kindergarten. She and her daughter, Kim, had enough experience with child care centers to know exactly what they wanted in a center-- and exactly what they didn't want. Heritage was created with their goals of providing the best possible environment for children and with their belief that the children should always come first. Heritage is still operated under the same philosophy today.

Heritage opened its doors for business in a rented building on Virginia Parkway in May 1987 with six children enrolled and four teachers. Enrollment grew slowly at first until word began spreading in McKinney that Heritage Learning Center really was a better kind of child care center and that Ms. Phoebe was a different kind of Director. By 1990, enrollment at Heritage was at the maximum of 148 children with a long waiting list.

In 1993, our present 3-acre site was purchased and the front building was opened in August 1994 at full capacity of 246 children. Three years later, the Clubhouse was completed, providing our school-age children a unique building all their own. Enrollment has grown to over 300 children with a staff of 40, making Heritage Learning Center one of the largest child care facilities in McKinney.

In 1999 our playgrounds were totally transformed into a state-of-the-art play facility with a large, spray, water park, rubber-turf playgrounds, and fun, play equipment.

Ms. Phoebe has now retired from her long days of caring for all the children; although, she still is a strong force in the background ensuring that her center is maintaining her same high standards.

The history of HLC is really the history of a dream...a dream to create the best possible learning environment for all of Ms. Phoebe's and Ms. Kim's children. From our loving staff and engaging curriculum to our beautiful facility, HLC has and will continue to serve children well.
